Responsibility and Implementation

While the responsibility for compliance with this policy lies with business unit Managing Directors, it is also the responsibility of individuals throughout G4S Risk Management to take ownership and responsibility for the Security and Safety of their own work. Everyone must endeavour to make themselves aware of the potential consequences and risks associated with non-compliance with this policy.

Business units are to implement this policy through their documented business management systems and conduct periodic audits/reviews to verify compliance and promote continual improvement in accordance with the G4S Risk Management Annual Business Operations Plan.
